

Oh, What Is Your Comfort

Jeremiah Ingalls, Christian Harmony, 1805

1. Oh, what is your com-fort in life and in death? And where does your
2. He's paid for my sins with His own prec-ious blood; He loved me, for-
3. My Heav-en-ly Fa-ther, in love day by day, pre-serves me and
4. And now by the pow'r of the Spir-it di-vine, He al-so as-

- hope and your con-fid-ence rest? That I, with both bod-y, and
- gave me, and prom-ised me good. From all of the pow'r of the
- keeps me in ev-er-y way; Not e-ven a hair shall e'er
- sures me that His life is mine; And so makes me will-ing and soul do be-long to Je-sus my Sav-ior, and to Him a-lone.

De-vil set free; He's pur-chased my par-don, He's ran-som-ed me.
fall from my head; But all works to-ge-ther by God's grace in-stead.
read-y to live, a life that is pleas-ing, o-bed-ient to Him.

lyrics: Brian L. Penney, 2008 (from Heidelberg Catechism Q/A 1)